1. The Hennigsdorfer Metallurgische Fabrik is the former Stahlwerk Flick, part of the Mitteldeutsche Stahlwerke, which was one-hundred-percent dismantled.
2. Reconstruction of the works began on 26 October 1947 and it is estimated that production will begin by March 1948. In November 1947, seven hundred men were employed on the reconstruction; this number was to have been increased to five thousand. The city of Potsdam had been ordered to supply two thousand men for this work.
3. The Russian construction chief is Major Gusev.
